The Strange Reversal of Roles—Taxpayers Versus Government

Time was when the people paid taxes and elected a government of their own choosing; nowadays it's the government that is giving orders with the people having little or no choice.

If taxes aren't enough to support ambitious government plans, then the money is obtained by borrowing—mortgaging Americans and their future without public consent.

We had a taste of the foregoing when government was permitted to pile up a public debt to fight World War I. But then we paid off a large part of that debt in the prosperous years from the end of World War I to the 1929-33 depression.

The period following World War II, however, was a different story. Federal politicians, and the people, had grown so used to vast debt they foolishly let it climb through all the years after the end of World War II.

Eventually our foreign friends took a long look at us and said we were nearly bankrupt—and the once proud American dollar was worth a lot less than we claimed for it.

So the roof caved in—and President Nixon went on TV last Sunday night to tell Americans what he proposed to do to improve conditions at home and save the dollar abroad.

How you evaluate his program depends on how much confidence you have in the federal government—and I have none. A government that wouldn't pay its debts during the 25 prosperous years that followed the end of World War II is hardly to be trusted today.

Nixon is a trifle late coming on the action scene. Why didn't he act before railway, steel, automobile, and telephone workers got their preferential union pay boosts, followed by sharp price advances in steel and autos?

One sound pair of moves does appear, however: Abolition of the 7 per cent federal tax on new cars—and a corresponding cut in federal tax-eating personnel.

The 10 per cent surcharge on imports is something else. Foreign countries are likely to react similarly, reducing our exports—leaving us with no net gain.

Finally, the success with enforcement of price-wage control in peacetime remains to be seen. Price-wage control was difficult enough in wartime—but impossible in peacetime, this wary observer thinks.

Market Makes a Rousing Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — Big investors gave President Nixon's sweeping economic message a rousing reception Monday as they boosted New York Stock Exchange trading to record highs.

Roars of delight rose periodically from the trading floor as prices zoomed in the hectic trading.

"Everybody was running in 10 different directions at once," said one floor trader.

Big Board volume hit a history-making 31.7 million shares, paced by a record shattering 196 block trades of 10,000 shares or more. There were some 60,000 individual transactions, about one-third more than normal.

Ex-Officer Enters Plea of Guilty

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Rudy Short, 29, a former member of the Malvern police force, pleaded guilty Monday to charges of grand larceny and breaking and opening a vending machine.

Short, who was suspended indefinitely from the force after he was charged in connection with the alleged incident in July 1970, changed his plea after five state witnesses testified in his trial.

Local Plant to Receive Safety Award

Commissioner of Labor Dale Cline announced that the Safety Award of Merit, given by the Occupational Safety Division of the Arkansas Department of Labor will be awarded Monday, August 23, 1971 to Wynnewood Products Company of Hope.

This award recognizes a safety program which resulted in 156,000 man-hours without a disabling injury from January, 1970 to June, 1971.

Safety Consultant John Wilkins will present the framed award to Buel Verser, Safety Director of the Company. The Occupational Safety Division has instituted these awards in the belief that working safety should be recognized and rewarded. This company is to be congratulated for its safety efforts over the period of more than one (1) year.

Inquiries about the Safety Program of the Arkansas Department of Labor may be directed to Benjamin Davis, Director of the Occupational Safety Division, Arkansas Department of Labor, Capitol Hill Building, Little Rock.

Corn Blight Reported in Hempstead

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. — Arkansas' corn crop has reached or is rapidly reaching the stage of maturity where Southern Corn Leaf Blight no longer poses an economic problem.

M.C. McDaniel, Extension plant pathologist for the University of Arkansas, reported that Southern Corn Leaf Blight (SCLB) had been confirmed in six counties in Arkansas—Hempstead, Lincoln, Calhoun, Jackson, Grant, and Crittenden.

About a third of the state's corn crop is used for silage; the rest for feed grain. Corn is also planted in many home gardens and there was one case of SCLB affecting home garden corn.

In tests conducted last year and this, he said, there are no ill effects from consumption of SCLB-infected corn, by either humans or animals. However, the quality and quantity is greatly reduced.

Mr. McDaniel said that in the major corn producing regions of the country, SCLB is still posing a real threat to the nation's corn crop.

Why Not Use Discarded Tin Cans to Cover World With Highways?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Mental illnesses have become a leading cause why students drop out of college before graduating.

What can a man believe? The so-called tin can actually is 99 per cent steel and only 1 per cent tin. Incidentally, if so many of them weren't thrown off the road by litter-making motorists, the tin cans we produce each year could cover a four-lane highway encircling the earth more than three times.

The year-round school is the most challenging and controversial new idea in the U.S. educational field. At least 1,000 of the nation's school districts are considering plans to keep schools open 12 months a year with pupils attending three of the four quarters.

You may not be slowing down, but the earth is. If its spinning rate continues to decline at the present rate, some scientists say, we will have a 25-hour day—in a mere 1.8 million centuries or so.

Texas School District Brings Busing Issue Back to High Court

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appeal by a Texas school district has brought the legal fight over busing back to the Supreme Court.

The case from Corpus Christi tests the reach of last term's ruling that busing is a legitimate means of accomplishing desegregation.

At the moment, the dispute is in the hands of Justice Hugo L. Black, who has jurisdiction over Texas cases. The Corpus Christi school district told him late Monday it can't afford the $1.7 million needed to comply with a federal judge's order for busing about 15,000 children.

Judge Woodrow Seals' order last month was a major desegregation victory for Mexican-Americans who make up 45 per cent of the Corpus Christi population. Seals said they are victims of segregation practices. His busing order involves one-third of the district's enrollment.

Last April the Supreme Court unanimously upheld busing of school children over long distances in Charlotte, N.C. With the new school term approaching busing again is a controversy.

Early this month President Nixon disavowed his own administration's plan for extensive cross-town busing in Austin, Tex., and said he is "against busing as that term is commonly used." Subsequently, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama took steps to try to limit busing in his state.

Judge Seals' busing order was set aside for a while by Owen Cox, a fellow federal judge in Texas, but was restored by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans. Seals said in his ruling: "It is not really busing which Americans find objectionable but what is at the other end of the busline."

The Corpus Christi school officials told Black they have neither the money nor the buses to obey the order and that unless he gives them a reprieve, "extreme educational, economic and administrative hardship" will result.

The case is unusual in that the rights of Mexican-Americans are at issue, a point emphasized by Corpus Christi officials. They noted the rights of black children to a desegregated education has been the law of the land for 17 years and said these rights are being supported.

Cong Frogmen Sink a U.S. Freighter

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong frogmen sank an 11,000-ton American freighter in Qui Nhon harbor today and overnight shelling attacks were reported along the demilitarized zone for the sixth consecutive day.

U.S. B52 bombers, in their heaviest one-day raids since July 1, made more than 20 strikes along the DMZ and dropped more than 600 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese troops positions and storage areas.

The U.S. Command confirmed reports that B52 bombers have been attacking North Vietnamese positions inside the southern half of the DMZ periodical halt in the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1, 1968.

A spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, said B52 attacks are carried out in the buffer zone when the command feels the lives of allied troops along the frontier are endangered. But DMZ raids have not been listed previously in the command's daily reports of B52 strike locations.

A 500-600-pound explosive planted against the outer hull of the 523-foot U.S. cargo ship Green Bay ripped a gaping hole in the ship's side and injured four persons, including one American.

"The Green Bay is now resting on the bottom of Qui Nhon harbor but not totally submerged in the 40-foot deep water," the U.S. Command said.

Heart, Lung Transplant Patient Dies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Adrian Herbert, the world's fourth heart-and-lung transplant patient, died today. He lived 23 days after the operation, the longest of any of the four.

Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard's transplant team performed the operation on the 49-year-old dental technician on July 25, giving him the heart and lungs of a 28-year-old man who had died the night before. Herbert had been bedridden for two years with emphysema, an incurable and progressive lung disease that had weakened his heart.

All three previous heart-and-lung transplants were performed in the United States. One of the patients lived a week. The other two died shortly after the operation.

Herbert's new heart functioned well, but the lungs apparently had both mechanical and rejection problems.

43,000 Men Drafted May Get Out Early

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says 43,000 draftees will be sent home up to four months early in anticipation of new congressional manpower ceilings.

Pentagon sources said the Army also will have to let more personnel go, raise its re-enlistment standards or induct fewer men the next 10 months if Congress orders a 50,000-man average-strength cut in fiscal 1972.

The first step announced Monday will be early release for as many as 43,000 draftees assigned to U.S. posts. These men, most of whom already have served in Vietnam or Korea, were scheduled for discharge between Sept. 1 and June 30, 1972.

Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehke said this is in anticipation of the 50,000-man reduction in the Selective Service bill passed by the House and awaiting Senate action.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has criticized the bill's provision cutting the average strength over the entire year rather than setting a manpower level to be achieved by the end of the year.

Under the average-strength plan, the longer the Pentagon waits before beginning reductions, the more men will have to be cut. Laird said if the cuts begin in September it will be necessary to eliminate about 62,000 men the rest of the year to reach the 50,000-man average for the entire year.

The Army had planned on an average strength of 1,024,000 men this year, reaching a figure of 942,000 by June 30.

Because of the congressional action, the average strength will have to be cut to 974,000, possibly resulting in a smaller manpower pool at the end of the fiscal year.

Foreign Trade in Soybeans May Suffer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Clarence D. Palmby, assistant secretary of the Department of Agriculture, says foreign trade in soybeans might be hurt by the new economic policies announced Sunday by President Nixon.

Palmby made the statement Monday at the annual convention of the American Soybean Association, but refused to elaborate. He noted, however, that 50 per cent of the 50 soybean crop is exported, either as beans or soybean products.

Palmby also warned ASA delegates against international agreements to control agriculture.

Embargo on Horses Is Lifted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. R. M. Thomas, director of the Arkansas Livestock and Poultry Commission, says the embargo on Texas horses has been lifted because no new case of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis had been reported in Texas.

Thomas said that all horses that have been vaccinated for 14 days against VEE may enter Arkansas without a prior permit if they have a health certificate and a VEE vaccination certificate.

Cropduster Is Killed

MCCRORY, Ark. (AP) — Ernest Howard Dallas Jr., 38, of Howell (Woodruff County) was killed Monday when the cropdusting airplane he was flying crashed about 7½ miles south of MCCRORY.

Authorities said Dallas was flying a plane owned by the Dallas Flying Service of Augusta.

Nixon Calls in Leaders in Wake of Reaction to Wage, Price Freeze Exceptions to Be Few, Says Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today summoned key congressional figures to sell them on the tax-cut portion of his new economic policy—a policy that already has disgruntled some labor leaders and given the stock market its best day ever.

Among those asked to the White House was Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, who Monday called the President's new economic program "absolutely necessary" and scheduled crash hearings on it for Sept. 8, the day Congress returns from vacation.

Exchange Rate to Be Flexible

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fundamental reform of the international monetary system may result from President Nixon's bid to bolster the beleaguered dollar.

Economists predict a move to make more flexible the fixed exchange rate system adopted 27 years ago by the International Monetary Fund under which non-communist nations have maintained the international value of their currencies by pegging them to the dollar.

The forum for discussion of the system will be the IMF's annual meeting to begin here Sept. 27. Finance ministers from the more than 100 IMF member nations will attend.

The system adopted by the IMF in 1944 has relied on the dollar's stability as the principal means of avoiding the international monetary chaos which characterized the depression years of the 1930s.

The United States agreed to fix the value of the dollar through a commitment to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce. Under the IMF regulations, other nations held their currencies to a margin of 1 per cent on either side of the dollar.

LONDON (AP) — There was a growing fear among West Europeans today that they might become the victims of a trade and monetary struggle between a prosperous Japan and the United States, struggling to pull out of a recession.

Government officials and economists foresaw a real danger of monetary chaos and a trade war arising from President Nixon's efforts to slow the flood of Japanese goods into the United States and Tokyo's decision to fight his policies.

West European governments sought to coordinate their policies in the face of the growing threat. The European Common Market's monetary committee met in Brussels to prepare for a full gathering Thursday of the community's foreign and finance ministers.

The British government was urgently trying to arrange talks with European Common Market leaders to align its policies with London.

Foreign exchanges around the world except in Japan remained tightly shut. The London and Zurich gold markets cautiously opened their doors to business for the first time since Friday. The price of gold was virtually unchanged from Friday and dealers reported trading was practically non-existent because of general uncertainty.

Governments and market operators studied implications of the American and Japanese monetary and trade conflict.

European officials see in a Japanese-U.S. conflict the threat of monetary chaos and a trade war that could drag in many other countries.

The Nixon administration severed the dollar's link with gold Sunday in a move to persuade Japan and some West European countries to let their money, which the United States considers undervalued in relation to the dollar, float up in value on the open market.

This would make more expensive the exports from those countries flooding into the United States. A 10 per cent surcharge on import duties also makes foreign imported goods more expensive in the United States.

Noboru Takeshita, government spokesman and chief Cabinet secretary, served notice Monday that Japan will fight Nixon's policies. He said Japan has no intention of increasing the value of the yen in relation to the dollar as Nixon wants.

The Bank of Japan was ordered to buy up whatever dollars were offered on the Tokyo market at the normal exchange rate.

Bombs, Shots During Night in Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Eight bomb blasts and a few shots were heard in Northern Ireland during the night, but there were no casualties. And a strike in Londonderry protesting internment of suspected terrorists failed to resume today.

Snipers and rioters harassed British troops at dawn as they tore down barricades around Londonderry's Roman Catholic Bogside enclave. At least five shots were fired. All missed the soldiers, who drove off stone-throwing mobs with volleys of rubber bullets.

British military headquarters said eight explosions, in Londonderry, Armagh and Belfast, damaged several buildings, and a single shot was fired at an army patrol in Belfast. Troops opened fire on a man they believed was carrying a rifle, but their target "disappeared into the night," an army spokesman said.

City workers were back at their jobs in Londonderry following a strike Monday to protest the Ulster government's internment without trial of suspected members of the Irish Republican Army.

Shops and factories also opened on time.

Republican leaders spoke of the strike as the start of a non-violent campaign of civil disobedience, and officials of the Protestant government feared it would spread to nonpayment of bills and taxes.

"I hope the people will have some common sense," said Development Minister Roy Bradford. "People must realize that it is their money that pays for water, sewage and so forth. If they stop paying their taxes and rents, they will soon realize that civil disobedience is a two-edged weapon."

In London, Labor party leader Harold Wilson bowed to mounting left-wing demands that the House of Commons be called back from its summer holiday to discuss the Irish situation.

The New York Stock Exchange rocketed to a record single-day gain of 32.93 points in the Dow-Jones industrial average. Foreign stock markets suffered.

—AFL-CIO President George Meany said the new Nixon plan favors business and is "patently discriminatory as far as American workers are concerned." Other labor leaders were generally cool.

—Consumerist Ralph Nader called Nixon's package "a mixture of successful special-interest pleading and anticongressional policies."

—Foreign industrialists that sell in the United States expressed displeasure, with some calling for retaliation against U.S. goods.

—Importers and foreign embassy officials besieged the Treasury Department with inquiries about specific applications of the new trade policy.

—Money exchanges in Europe, Africa and Latin America closed. American tourists took a beating exchanging their dollars for local money in informal transactions in hotel lobbies. But the administration said it remains to be seen whether the floating dollar will amount to a devalued dollar.

—Reaction from Congress continued generally favorable although some Democrats said the wage-price freeze won't work. Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee said the freeze should include control of interest rates. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said such controls might prompt lenders to hoard their money, and he called on them to furnish "reasonable" interest rates voluntarily.

Connally said the administration expects to make exceptions for the wage-price freeze only in event of "catastrophic" hardship.

AM&N Cashier Guilty of Embezzlement

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The former head cashier at Arkansas AM&N College pleaded guilty Monday in Jefferson County Circuit Court to charges of embezzlement and forgery and was sentenced to three years in prison on each charge.

Richard S. Anderson entered his pleas after waiving the reading of indictments brought against by a Jefferson County Grand Jury.

Circuit Judge Randall L. Williams, however, suspended Anderson's sentence for forgery and deferred the embezzlement sentence until Oct. 1.

Anderson was accused of embezzling $2,000.49 in college funds July 2, 1969. According to information filed in court, the forgery charge stems from a false endorsement July 2, 1969, of a $77.50 check made out to C. Williams.

Anderson was one of six persons indicted in April during a grand jury investigation of alleged financial irregularities at the predominantly black institution.

Ellsberg in a Plea of Not Guilty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg has pleaded innocent to charges of illegally having the Pentagon papers, and a former colleague is in jail for refusing to testify about the disclosure of the secret documents.

Ellsberg told newsmen outside court Monday that he believes he will be acquitted in a fair trial. He said he anticipates a long trial "very instructional to the country," dealing with "life and death, war and peace."

The 40-year-old research associate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology remains free on $50,000 bail and said he plans to return to Boston. He is due back in U.S. District Court here Jan. 4 for a hearing on a trial date and pretrial motions.

About 2 1/2 hours after saying "I am not guilty" in a firm voice to Judge Matt Byrne, Ellsberg stood outside the courthouse with Anthony Russo, a former colleague from the Rand Corp., a research firm in nearby Santa Monica.

Russo was ordered to surrender after U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas declined to bar his jailing for contempt of court.

Russo, 34, was working at Rand Corp. in 1969 when the government says, Ellsberg had access there to the secret documents on American involvement in Vietnam.

Although given immunity from prosecution, Russo refused to testify before the federal grand jury that indicted Ellsberg in June on charges of unauthorized possession of secret documents and using them for his own purposes.

Before surrendering to federal marshals, Russo told newsmen, "I'm proud to stand with Daniel Ellsberg in taking responsibility for making the Pentagon papers available to the American people." He didn't elaborate.

Russo could remain in jail until he agrees to testify or until the grand jury's term expires in about 18 months.

Clear to Partly Cloudy for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clear to partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures are expected in Arkansas for the next two days as a high pressure ridge continues to dominate the weather picture.

The center of the high pressure is over western Pennsylvania and the southern Great Lakes, but the system extends westward and southwestward to the lower Mississippi Valley and southern plains.

The stagnant high pressure area is also responsible for haze and smoke that has been reducing visibility over the state since Monday.

Easterly winds in the southern portion of the high pressure ridge may bring into eastern Arkansas by Wednesday some of the moisture associated with a tropical low along the Atlantic states. This could increase slightly the probability for showers in that section of the state. Otherwise, little change is expected during the next two days.

High temperatures through Wednesday are expected to be mostly in the 80s, with lows tonight forecast in the 60s and low 70s.

A few widely scattered thundershowers developed over northern sections of the state Monday afternoon. Mountainburg received .82 of an inch in one of the showers.

Highs in Arkansas Monday ranged from 85 in the Harrison area to 90 at Pine Bluff and Texarkana.

The extended forecast through Saturday calls for partly cloudy skies with little change in temperatures, and a chance of showers on Saturday.

Overnight lows included Fayetteville 64, Harrison 65, Jonesboro 68, Pine Bluff 70, Texarkana 71, El Dorado 69, Memphis 71, Little Rock 70 and Fort Smith 68.

Tiny Tim Aids Beauty Program

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Singer Tiny Tim, wearing wrinkled brown trousers, orange socks, a blue trench coat and canvas shoes with tasseled strings, wielded a shovel Monday to help beautify downtown Baltimore.

He joined William Donald Schaefer, the city's acting mayor, for a tree-planting ceremony. "Now that you've started this, we'll try to get all dignitaries who come to Baltimore to follow this tradition," Schaefer said.

The singer planted three myrtle trees.

The ceremony, during the height of rush-hour traffic, ended with a flourish as three cars were involved in rear-end collisions while passing Tiny Tim and several Playboy bunnies.

Spacecraft Recovered

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The USS Okinawa, prime recovery ship for the Apollo 15 splashdown, has brought the Endeavour spacecraft back to the United States.

The capsule, which carried astronauts David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden to the moon and back, arrived Monday and will be deactivated at North Island Naval Air Station. On Friday it will be taken by motor transport to North American Rockwell at Downey where it was assembled.

Wallace to Open Another Closed School

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, saying it is "not a matter of segregation or desegregation," will travel into one of the oldest all-black communities in the nation Wednesday and sign an executive order to block federal court intervention in the town's school program.

Wallace announced Monday that he will go to Hobson City—an all-black community chartered by Alabama in 1899—and meet with the town's mayor as well as the mayor of Oxford to sign the papers.

He said he was going at the invitation of both mayors, who have urged him to take action to stop a recent federal court plan from changing the makeup of the schools in the two cities.

On Aug. 6, the court issued an order requiring students in the 4th through 12th grades at Hobson City's previously all-black Calhoun County Training School to attend one of the predominantly white schools at nearby Oxford. All pupils in the first three grades of both school systems would attend the training school.

The order which Wallace plans to sign essentially will direct the cities' school boards to leave their schools as they are despite the court order.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. DANNY DAVID FRITH

The wedding of Miss Claudia Jane Maas of Pine Bluff and Daniel (Danny) David Frith was solemnized at 4 p.m. August 14 in Wheeler Chapel at the First United Methodist Church of Pine Bluff. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Louis Maas, Jr. of Pine Bluff, and the groom is the son of Mrs. John David Frith and the late Mr.

Frith.

Dr. John W. Lindsay of Pine Bluff performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with mint green Fuji mums in brass and mint green tapers in brass candlesticks.

Music was provided by Eddie Dunbar of Althelmer, organist; Phillip Ballard, soloist; and David Morris, pianist. Candles were lighted by Teddy Holmes and Paul Holmes, both of Pine Bluff.

Game Night at Country Club

The Royce Welsbergers and the Garland Medders were hosts for Game Night at the Hope Country Club on Friday, August 13. Pink and red roses decorated the clubhouse where a ham dinner was served to 26.

In the evening games were played. Winners at the bridge tables were Mrs. H.C. Whitworth, Mrs. J.W. Smith, and Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr. Taking top place in pitch were Mrs. Ted Maryman and Forrest Hairr, and game prizes went to Ted Maryman and Mrs. Sam Andrews.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Strawn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzhugh, all of Little Rock, were weekend guests of Dr. and Mrs. Sam W. Strong, and the men played in the golf tournament at the Hope Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Russell have returned from a National Ham Show and Convention at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis, Min., where he presented the national president a large Hope watermelon. The columnist who writes "Dear Abby" was the special convention speaker.

The Rev. and Mrs. T.H. King have moved to Hope from Carmi, Ill., and are making their home with Miss Aurie Huntley and Mrs. Mary Jaeger.

Dr. Dale Zinn has received his Ph. D. degree in Engineering at the U. of Okla., and will teach this fall at the U. of Texas. He is currently on a 2-week cruise with the U.S. Navy, after which he and Mrs. Zinn will visit his mother, Mrs. Martha M. Zinn, and his aunt, Mrs. Mary M. Compton.

Sgt. Gary Simmons has returned home from a tour of duty in Thailand and is visiting his wife and child and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Simmons.

Debbie Bryant, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kammerdiener, returned home August 6 from a 9-week European tour with the Harding College Choir. This year she will be a sophomore at Harding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal A-line gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long fitted lace sleeves, and the controlled skirt swept into a full court train. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was secured by a petal cluster of organza, lace and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, miniature mint green Fuji mums and greenery centered with a white Cattleya orchid.

Miss Beth Roberts of Pine Bluff was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Alison Reemes and Miss Meredith Smith, both of Pine Bluff. They wore identical gowns of mint green Shantung. Venice lace marked the Empire waistline, and matching Dior bows held their short veils. Each carried a cascade bouquet of miniature mint green Fuji mums and greenery.

Harry Stephens was the best man.

Groomsmen were Stanley Louis Maas, III of Monroe, La., brother of the bride, and John Matlock of Malvern.

White Cattleya orchids were presented to the mother of the bride, Mrs. Maas, and the mother of the groom, Mrs. Frith. Similar flowers were also worn by Mrs. Stanley L. Maas, Sr. of Pine Bluff, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Roy Olen Wortham, grandmother of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The reception table held an arrangement of mint green Fuji mums, baby's breath, and greenery in silver. Members of the house party were Mrs. Stanley Louis Maas, III of Monroe, La., Mrs. Harry Stephens, sister of the groom, Miss Mary Cal Hollis of Pine Bluff, and Mrs. Roger Shollmier of Jonesboro. Miss Kathy McCool of Pine Bluff was at the Bride's Book.

After a trip to northern Arkansas, the newlyweds will be at home in Arkadelphia.

The table was centered with a cut glass bowl filled with mint green Fuji mums. Twenty members of the wedding party attended.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

GIRL WHO CAME TO DINNER NEEDS MANNERS RECYCLED

We three girls share an apartment. We buy a lot of hamburger and try to live cheap, as we're just out of school and not earning great salaries.

A girl who used to hang around with us at college is back in town. She shows up at mealtime, grabs a plate and helps herself. That's bad enough, but she COMPLAINS about the food! She makes fun of our cheap margarine and "recycled roast" (hash). Then she eats like a horse.

She's got a better job than I have and lives at home (but doesn't like the food there).

We wouldn't mind occasional visits, after dinner, but how do you get rid of an always-hungry friend? — CRITICIZED COOKS

Dear Cooks: Start a "pay or go hungry" plan and tell Little Miss Moocher she either antes up or buys her dinner elsewhere. She needs her manners recycled.—H.

Dear Helen:

Sherri's father likes me, hates the guy she's going with now. Whenever I'm at her house, her Dad invites me in and we talk. When George comes over, he stomps out. That's what her sister says.

I was doing great with Sherri until George came along. Now I only get to talk to her sister who is a year younger and on my side.

Is it true that when the family is for a guy, the girl turns against him? — WHAT TO DO?

Dear What:

Not always: Little sister is true blue, remember? Why don't you take off the blinders and concentrate on the newer model? — H

Dear Helen:

I filled out a sex test and sent it to my boy friend. His dad found it in his coat pocket and now he can't see me any more.

I am not a bad girl and it wasn't a bad test—just kinda funny, but his folks don't understand how kids talk these days. (I'm sending you a copy.)

It was stupid of me. His folks and I got along great before, but now I'm miserable. So is he. What can we do?—BLAMED BUT INNOCENT

Dear B and I:

The "sex test" you enclosed has been floating around for so long I'm surprised all parents haven't seen (and discounted) it. I believe it was even published in a newspaper column several years back.

Naturally most kids will score themselves much "sexier" than they are, but actions speak louder than words. Let's hope your boy friend's father has relented by now.—H.

Dear Helen:

I am a 16-year-old girl who weighed 140 pounds and am five feet one inch tall. I reduced down to 120 pounds and feel great. It isn't a faddy starvation diet. I'm small-framed and shouldn't weigh over 110.

My Mom said if I lose any more weight I might get sick (she's kind of heavy). Says if I keep to my diet she'll force me to eat desserts after every meal, so

I'll gain weight back. How can I persuade her?—HELP

Dear Help:

Sounds as if "fat" loves company at your house. Maybe your doctor can persuade Mama that she should follow your diet— not fight it!—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marcus Welby, M.D., is running into the same complaints that used to bug Dr. Casey and Kil-dare.

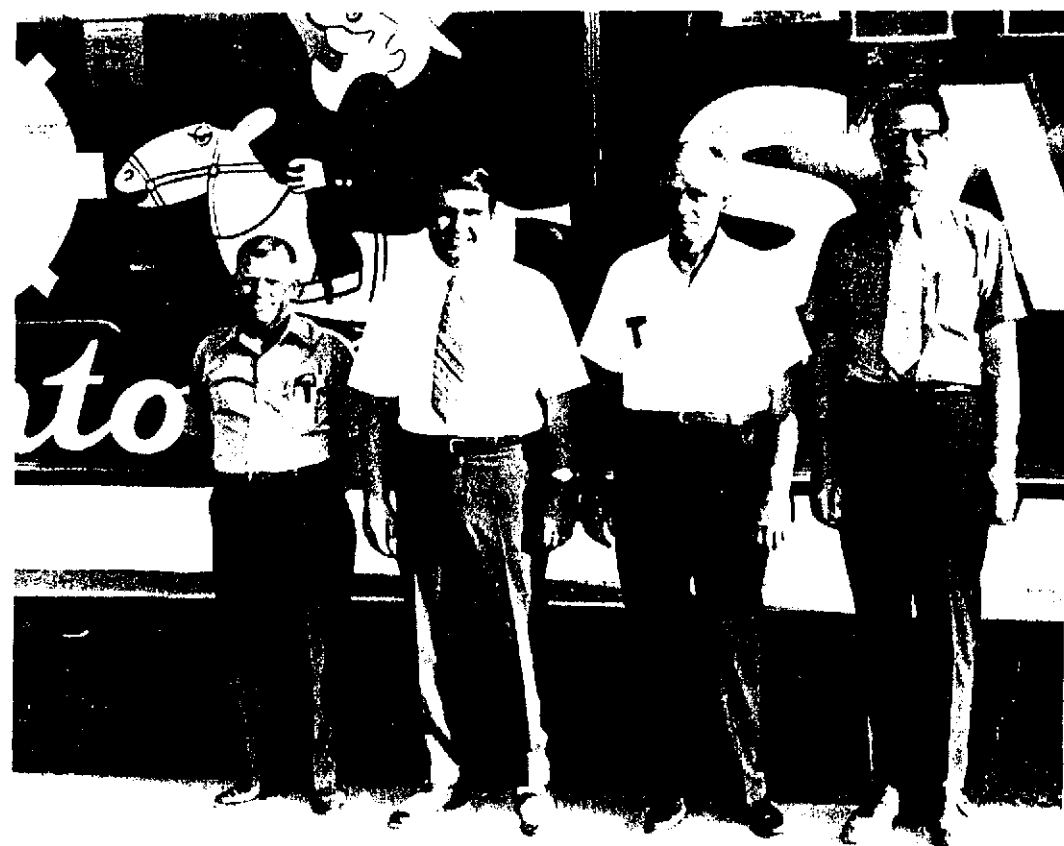

"I find that doctors complain some about the series," reported Robert Young who plays the title role in ABC's popular medical series. "It seems that their patients tell them that they aren't as compassionate as Welby—who makes night calls at 1 a.m. and often spends whole days or nights at the bedside of a sick person."

He said he felt he was in no position to take a stand on the subject or even to have an opinion.

"I am no more familiar with the medical profession and its problems than I was before the series started three seasons ago. But if I answer complaints by saying that I feel the doctors of this country are doing a fantastic job, it would sound like a whitewash."

"The truth is, of course, that we can show in a series only a fragment of life. In television, we are telling a story, a dramatic story. We realize that in real life it would not be possible for a busy doctor with many patients to stay with one of them all day or all night."

Three-Run Homer Wins for Boston

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Controversial Billy Conigliaro settled one argument in a hurry and he didn't need a press conference to do it.

Conigliaro whipped a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night, moving the Boston Red Sox to a see-saw 6-5 victory over California with his brother, Tony, watching from the stands.

The homer, Conigliaro's ninth of the season, sailed over Fenway Park's friendly left field screen, which hadn't been so friendly as the Red Sox had dropped seven straight—all of them at home.

Elsewhere in American League Monday night, Baltimore shaded Milwaukee 3-2 and Minnesota blasted Cleveland 11-2 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, Chicago shut out Atlanta 3-0, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 6-5, Pittsburgh rapped Houston 8-3 and the New York Mets blanked Los Angeles 6-0.

Conigliaro had a falling out with some of his teammates last month about the same time that his brother left the Angels. Within a few days, the Conigliaros staged first separate and then a joint press conference to air their problems.

Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey suggested "The Conigliaros have called more press conference in one year than I have called in all the years I've owned this team."

Billy let his bat do the talking against Tony's ex-mates, and called his game-winning homer "my most satisfying hit of the year."

The Sox had rallied for three runs in the seventh inning on homers by George Scott and Joe Lahoud to wipe out a 1-0 California lead. But the Angels bounced right back for four in the eighth after an error by Luis Aparicio opened the doors.

That made it 5-3 California into the ninth but Rico Petrocelli and Scott opened with singles and Conigliaro ripped a 3-2 pitch for his game-winning homer.

Frank Robinson, not a bad hitter against anybody, raised his season's average against Milwaukee to .500—11-for-22—and helped Baltimore beat the Brewers.

Milwaukee was leading 2-0 in the fourth inning when Robinson doubled for Baltimore's first hit and came around to score on Brooks Robinson's single.

In the fifth, the Orioles loaded the bases on singles by Mark Belanger and winning pitcher Jim Palmer and a walk to Merv Rettenmund. Boog Powell forced Belanger at home but Frank Robinson delivered a two-run single.

Minnesota collected a season-high 18 hits to shell Cleveland for Jim Kaat's 10th victory of the season.

Rod Carew had four hits and Tony Oliva and Cesar Tovar added three each as the Twins scored in every inning they batted except the seventh.

Tovar scored runs in each of his first four times at bat and Harmon Killebrew increased his American League RBI total to 87 with a two-run triple, his first of the season.

Arkansas Qualifies

ATLANTA (AP) — Dorothy Germain of Blytheville, Ark., shot an 81 Monday in the first round of the qualifying for the U.S. Women's Amateur Championship.

Miss Germain, the Arkansas state champion, had nines of 42-39. Three players shared medalist honors at 75.

Texas Cranks Up Wishbone With Speed

By JACK KEEVER

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' wishbone-T offense will crank up this year with four backs with speed to break for long touchdowns operating behind a young, inexperienced line that averages 227 pounds.

That average does not include wide receiver Jim Moore, whom coach Darrell Royal says "might" be as dangerous a deep threat as Charles "Cotton" Speyrer, who was drafted by the pros in the second round.

Quarterback Eddie Phillips, 196-pound senior, directs the split-second wishbone maneuvers, and Royal says he doesn't think there is anyone in college football who can do it better.

The halfbacks are Jim Bertelsen, 198, a possible All-America, and Don Burris, 176, who averaged 10.9 yards a carry as a freshman last year and broke Bertelsen's freshman rushing record.

Fullback Bobby Callison weighs only 190, but is only a step behind Burris as the fastest back on the squad.

None of the starters run 40 yards, the standard distance for measuring football speed—slower than 4.6 seconds.

"Last year, people keyed on Steve Worster, and it left me a lot of opportunities," said Phillips. "I think we have a very balanced, quick backfield for this fall, and other teams likely won't load up for one runner."

When the Longhorns pass—and Royal insists the wishbone formation "opens up more passing opportunities" than most offenses—the prime receivers will be Moore, whose 4.4 speed is the fastest on the squad, and tight end Rick Davis, who can run 4.7 and is 6 feet 4 and 225 pounds.

Bertelsen also is a fine receiver, and combined with his running and blocking seems to merit Royal's rating him the best halfback in the Southwest

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

Conference since Royal started coaching at Texas in 1957.

Only one starter returned in the offensive line, however, but Royal says "we're going to be physically stronger and larger."

Guards Don Crosslin and Travis Roach, both about 240, flank 200-pound center Jeff Zapalac, the son of assistant coach Willie Zapalac, who handles the offensive line. The tackles are superquint Julius Whittier, 210, and All-America candidate Jerry Sisemore, 6-4 and 255, the lone returning starter.

Six starters return on defense, including 196-pound Stan Mauldin, who could start at any of the four linebacking posts or defensive end, and 225-pound Ray Dowdy, a tackle Royal thinks the pros will want.

What's the outlook for Texas to pick up the winning streak which Notre Dame halted at 30 with the stunning 24-11 victory over the Longhorns in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl?

"I don't know," said Royal. "The other (1968-70) seasons are in the can, they are record. This one is just suspect."

50 Day Duck Season for Arkansas

CLINTON, Ark. (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission said Monday the duck hunting season in Arkansas would be 50 days, from Nov. 20 through Jan. 8.

The commission also set the dates for the geese hunting season from Oct. 31 through Jan. 8.

Up to four ducks a day can be killed and eight is the possession limit. A hunter may get his daily limit in mallards if he wishes. A hunter can bag two wood ducks and one canvasback or one redhead daily, but not both a canvasback and redhead in one day. Possession limits are four wood ducks and one canvasback or one redhead.

The daily bag limit of geese is five but not more than two white fronts. The state will be closed to Canadian geese.

Stargell Bats Pirates Over Astros

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer
Willie Stargell felt the vibrations—and the Houston Astros got the shock.

Ferguson Jenkins felt like swinging—and the Atlanta Braves got kayoed.

Stargell, the major league leader in home runs with 41 and in runs batted in with 108, cracked three singles and a double and drove in four runs Monday night, pacing the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-3 victory over the Astros.

Jenkins, the winningest pitcher in the National League, moved closer to his fifth consecutive 20-game season, hurling a two-hitter for his 19th victory as the Chicago Cubs blanked Atlanta 3-0—with the help of a two-run double by the big right-hander.

In the other National League games, Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 6-5 and New York topped Los Angeles 6-0.

In the American League, Boston beat California 6-5; Baltimore edged Milwaukee 3-2, and Minnesota routed Cleveland 11-2.

The powerful 6-2½, 215-pound Stargell had been in a slump, going 10 days without a homer, before crashing two against St. Louis Sunday. He then felt he had shaken his slump. "I could feel it when I picked up a bat," he said. "My strength was coming back. Somehow when I do that a message goes to my brain and tells me I'm ready to hit or not."

He certainly was ready against the Astros. Pittsburgh starter Dock Ellis was forced to leave after seven innings because of a sore elbow, which has been bothering him the past few starts. However, he gained his 17th victory against six losses.

A more serious threat to Ellis' career is a blood disease called sickle-cell anemia. Unless a cure is found, Ellis reportedly will die at a young age.

Periodically, he undergoes a "crisis," during which he feels faint and passes blood. "I'm not supposed to play ball," he says, "but I can control it. I rest when I feel a crisis coming on."

Otherwise, he says, "I don't think about it. I don't worry." The victory ended a four-game Pirate losing streak and increased their National League East lead to five games over St. Louis.

Jenkins, the high-kicking 6-5, 205-pound Cubs' ace, limited Atlanta to only two hits—Ralph Garr's single in the fourth and Earl Williams' single in the fifth. He also stopped the 22-game hitting streak of the Braves' Hank Aaron, retiring him three straight times.

He walked just one and struck out seven, giving him only 26 bases on balls and 204 strikeouts in 243 2-3 innings this season.

Jenkins, on the threshold of being the first pitcher to string together five consecutive 20-victory seasons since the Braves' Warren Spahn did it from 1956-60, said he pitches about the same against all clubs except Philadelphia—the team that traded him to the Cubs in 1966.

"They (the Phillies) said I didn't have any fast ball," he said. "Well, now, I don't give them anything but hate."

Chicago scored its first run in the third inning when Glenn Beckert doubled and came home on Billy Williams' single.

They added two runs in the ninth when Johnny Callison walked, Brock Davis singled, Callison was out at the plate on a grounder by J. C. Martin and Jenkins dropped his double into left field.

The triumph moved the Cubs within one-half game of St. Louis in the NL East.

The Cards were beaten by Cincinnati on George Foster's run-scoring single in the ninth. The hit scored Tony Perez, who had walked and reached second on Johnny Bench's single.

St. Louis took a 3-0 lead on Joe Torre's 18th homer, a two-run shot in the fourth inning, and Lou Brock's run-scoring single in the fifth.

Bench got the Reds a run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth, and Cincinnati moved ahead 5-3 with four runs in the eighth, one on a sacrifice fly by Foster, another on a single by Tommy Helms and two on Pete Rose's bases-loaded single.

No Answer to Freeze, Athletics

By ALEX SACHARE

Associated Press Sports Writer
What effect will President Nixon's freeze on wages have on professional athletes?

So far nobody has come up with a good answer. Or any answer, for that matter.

Representatives of pro teams and leagues contacted Monday by the Associated Press were in a fog as to how President Nixon's moves to bolster the sagging economy would effect them.

One man in a position to know is Samuel R. Pierce Jr., general counsel of the Treasury Department. And even though all he gave was an off-the-cuff opinion—not an official policy ruling—it was good news for pro football's numerous hold-outs.

"I would think the guy who has not signed would have to get what he received last year," Pierce said. Anyone who had signed by August 14 would be OK since "they're already under contract for the coming season." But the others, as Pierce put it, are "stuck."

Executives of pro teams remained in doubt as to what the freeze means. "I don't think the president meant it to apply to professional sports," said Vince Boryla, general manager of the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Mike Storen, president of the ABA Kentucky Colonels, agreed. "Pro sports is an unusual business," he said. "Our usual practice is to renegotiate every contract every year. This isn't like a normal job, where you have a regular salary."

"There have to be special considerations for sports," declared Bill Wirtz, president of the Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL. "We have players who have completed their contracts. There has to be some way to compensate the increase of their ability."

Other officials expressed similar doubts as to the impact of the freeze. "At this point, I don't see how it could affect baseball players," said a National advertising spokesman for the American League.

"We are not sure at this point," said Keith Allen, general manager of the NHL Philadelphia Flyers. "I don't think it would affect us."

French Woman Wins Canadian Tennis Open

TORONTO (AP) — "I was slow, soft and consistent," Francoise Durr of France said after beating Australia's Evonne Goolagong in straight sets 6-4, 6-2 to win the women's singles crown of the Canadian Open Tennis Championships.

Miss Durr, seeded fourth, described her victory Monday over Miss Goolagong, the top-seeded Wimbledon champion, as "quite a surprise," especially after the Australian jumped away to a 3-1 lead in the opening set.

Miss Goolagong had troubles with her backhand, normally her strongest shot.

Miss Durr controlled the pace of the match not letting Miss Goolagong play the fast game she prefers. "She tried to make the ball faster," Miss Durr

Ballman Is Big Gun in Eagles' Win

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gary Ballman was hit by President Nixon's wage freeze, but apparently it didn't have any effect on the performance of the Philadelphia Eagles' veteran wide receiver.

The 31-year-old Ballman has been squabbling over salary with Eagles' general manager Pete Retzlaff. He has refused to sign a new contract and apparently decided to play out his National Football League option.

But Monday night he caught nine passes for 166 yards and one touchdown in the Eagles' 34-28 exhibition victory over the Buffalo Bills.

"I'm not going to worry about it (the money)," Ballman said. "I learned a long time ago not to worry about anything until it comes into being."

The passing combination of quarterbacks Pete Liske to Ballman keyed the Eagles' second victory in two exhibition games. Liske played only two quarters, but completed 12 of 19 passes for 202 yards and two touchdowns.

The Eagles scored first when Happy Feller, the rookie from Texas, kicked a 25-yard field goal in the first period.

Buffalo came back to score a touchdown on a 10-play, 65-yard drive which featured the running of O.J. Simpson, who gained 29 yards, including the final two into the end zone.

Philadelphia regained the lead on a 75-yard drive that featured five pass completions by Liske, three to Ballman, who finished the drive with a nine-yard touchdown catch to put the Eagles ahead 10-7.

Buffalo, with Dennis Shaw leading the way, scored three second-period TDs to go ahead 28-10. The first came on a 25-yard pass to Simpson, the second on a 14-yard aerial to Bob Chandler and the third on a 23-yard pass to rookie J. D. Hill, the Bills' No. 1 draft choice.

The Eagles scored with 30 seconds left in the second quarter for a 28-17 halftime deficit. Buffalo went scoreless in the second half and Liske and Ballman generated a two touchdown third-period for the Eagles.

Mark Moseley's 17-yard fourth-period field goal completed the Philadelphia scoring. Joe Namath, recuperating in New York's Lenox Hill Hospital after knee surgery Aug. 8, is anxious to get back to football.

"I haven't even thought about giving it up," said Namath, who has undergone four knee operations.

Why? "It's very simple. Right now I'm doing something I enjoy doing. A man's very fortunate when he makes a living at something he enjoys."

Namath thinks the Jets can still make a run at the Super Bowl, even though the team has lost its two exhibitions.

"I think we would have a better chance to win it with me—I'd be a fool not to feel that way," Namath said. "But I still think we have a good chance to go all the way."

Dr. James A. Nicholas, who has performed all four of Namath's knee operations, said a decision would be made in 12 weeks as to whether Namath can return to action this season.

The Dallas Cowboys lost two regulars in Friday's 36-21 exhibition victory over New Orleans. Tight end Mike Ditka fractured a bone in his wrist and will be out three weeks, while middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan fractured a bone below his knee and will be sidelined one week.

But the Cowboys got good news on quarterback Roger Staubach, who boosted his chances to oust regular Craig Morton by tossing three touchdown passes against the Saints. X-rays showed his ribs were bruised during the game, but not broken.

He worked out with the team Monday and will not miss any exhibition action.

New Orleans acquired a line-backer and a wide receiver in a pair of trades. The Saints got line-backer Carl Cunningham from Denver in a deal for quarterback Jim Ward, then swapped cornerback Gene Heard and defensive tackle Clovis Swinney for wide receiver Charlie Williams and an undisclosed draft choice.

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

American Conference: Central Division
CINCINNATI BENGALS

PROSPECTUS—Maestro Paul Brown upset time schedule for expansion teams by producing division winner in third year. At 63, P.B. could sit back smugly, but now title fire's consuming him and Bengals. They think they can play with anybody. And off '70, they can. But there are still some gaps to be filled in this youngest of pro football teams before it can claim dynasty status.

Offense

PASSING—Miracle of last year was that Bengals reached first without single pass thrown by Greg Cook, this generation's version of Otto Graham. Verdict still out on success of operation, but Virgil Carter, plucky and obedient to P.B.'s wishes, remains insurance. Rating—B-

RUNNING—Dropoff in production of Paul Robinson counter-balanced by emergence of Jess Phillips as rugged, heavy duty rusher. They make for nice balance of speed, power, with fellows like Doug Dressler, rookie Fred Willis to act as stand-ins. Rating—B+

RECEIVERS—Outstanding tight end in Bob Trumpy, who made Pro Bowl, and three adequate wide receivers in Chip Myers, Speedy Thomas and Eric Crabtree. Trumpy even has height (6-6) to put on more weight and throw it around. A Paul Warfield-type outside would be ideal, but they can get along with what they have. Rating—B

LINE—The building program was accelerated this season by top two draftees—tackle Vern Holland, guard Steve Lawson. Front wall's on verge of being top caliber. Center Bob Johnson's the anchor. Guards Rufus Mayes, Guy Dennis fit system well. Sloughs off at tackles, where Ernie Wright's now toiling in 12th year—which is where Holland can be of service. Rating—B

Defense

LINE—Togetherness should start paying off. Bengals made big push with two rookies, piano-playing Mike Reid inside. Ron Carpenter outside. Other two guys on front four — end Royce Berry, tackle Steve Chomyszak — are virtual kids, too. So the good days should be ahead of them. Could be a little thin, though, if anybody got hurt. Rating—B-

LINEBACKING — Not too much publicity has come his way yet, but Bill Bergey is among the good middle rovers in the NFL. The quality drops off on either side, where Ken Avery and Al Beauchamp are the incumbents; a young hustler would have chance to make job for himself. Rating—B-

SECONDARY — If they could uncover another one like Lemar Parrish, last year's flashy rookie who also sparked in kick returns, Bengals would be beaming. Meanwhile they're getting lot of mileage from such retirees as Ken Riley, Fletcher Smith, Ken Dyer, Al Coleman. Speed is the one quality they're well stocked with. Rating—B-

KICKING — Distinguishing facet of all Brown teams has been superlative kicking, and this one has it, too. Dave Lewis, also a spare QB, led NFL in punting at 46.2, and a West German butcher, Horst Muhlmann, chopped more than his share of long field goals. Rating—A-

Prediction

Should at least equal last year's W-L record (8-6), but should still finish second in Central.

Revson, Hulme on Way to Can-Am Cup

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Revson, a suave New Yorker, and Denis Hulme, a grizzled New Zealander, appear on their way to bagging a fifth straight Can-Am Challenge Cup sports car racing title for Team McLaren of England.

Some time before the 10-race schedule ends at Riverside, Calif., Oct. 31, the team will have surpassed the $1 million mark in Can-Am purse winnings over five years.

Going into the fifth race of the year Aug. 22 at Mid-Ohio, near Lexington, the team has won 32 of the last 37 and 26 of the last 28 starts.

With the billion-dollar U.S. auto industry watching idly from the sidelines, how did a 50-employee British firm gain such a stranglehold in the richest of all road racing series? Where did the money come from to finance the design work and engineering to produce cars that have absolutely no commercial value except for high speed racing?

The answer, says team McLaren manager E. E. (Teddy) Mayer, who holds a masters degree in tax law from Cornell University, is sponsorship.

"Prize or starting money alone in no way supports a first class racing effort," says Mayer.

"Therefore, you're dependent on sponsorship and sponsorship is dependent on the success of the team."

Four major sponsors—Gulf Oil, Goodyear, Reynolds Aluminum and Coca Cola—provide about 60 per cent of McLaren's yearly budget, including the costs of design, manufacture and testing of the low-slung Chevrolet-powered sports-racing cars. Usually, Mayer says, it's in the form of products used by the cars, victory bonuses and retainers.

General Motors, which for years has denied it subsidizes any form of racing, almost surely has its hand in the pot. White-shirted Chevrolet engineers are always in evidence when the McLaren's run.

Purse winnings go toward operating costs and provide the team with any profit it may show at season's end. Hulme and Revson are said to take 50 per cent of what their cars win, plus out of pocket race expenses and retainers from sponsors.

With money coming from several sources, the team does well. But what about the sponsors?

Gulf's involvement is one of several it has had in racing over the years. Gulf-sponsored Ford FT-40s and Porsche 917Ks have won the world endurance title three times, including prime wins at LeMans, the Daytona 24 Hours and Sebring.

Five years ago, says Gulf executive vice president I.G. Davis, the firm's products were relatively unknown in Europe. Today, because auto racing is a top sport on the continent, Davis says sales of Gulf petroleum products have tripled in Europe.

Davis credits auto racing with major help in development of Gulf's Formula G low-ash oil, now one of the firm's best sellers for general passenger car use.

Mayer says Goodyear feels it has "enhanced its image" through its involvement in racing.

Reynolds engineers developed the all-aluminum engine now being used in the Chevrolet Vega mini-car and are developing a V-8 version through the McLaren racing program. The Reynolds-McLaren engine, which eliminates the steel cylinder liners found in other powerplants, has gone to the post in three Can-Am races and has won all of them.

Coca Cola seeks exposure for its product in the youth and leisure market. Racing footage, usually featuring Can-Am cars, is showing up more and more lately in the firm's TV commercials.

Preview of Super Bowl Champions

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer
WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, taunted in 1970 for playing an easy schedule and left for dead by some after the second game, open the 1971 National Football League season as defending champions.

Baltimore scrambled to an 11-2-1 record in regular season play a year ago without silencing their critics, but then defied the experts by winning the Super Bowl.

The Colts were hardly impressive as they edged eight opponents by margins of eight points or less. Only three Colts—all defensive players—were named to the Pro Bowl game, and not a single one made the All-NFL first team.

But they won. They did it with a fine defense, special teams which provided good field position, and an offense which made the big play when necessary.

This season, the Colts will face a tougher schedule. Two of their six interdivision foes won championships last year and three others finished second.

For the second time in four seasons, venerable quarterback John Unitas will be sidelined by an injury as the campaign begins, with Earl Morrall taking over the No. 1 spot.

Unitas is progressing more rapidly than expected from a torn Achilles tendon suffered during the off season. But the team gains well behind Morrall, who like Unitas is starting his 16th NFL season.

An injury to Morrall, would be a problem, however, since he is backed up only by rookie Karl Douglas and Sam Havrilak, a third-year pro halfback who played quarterback at Bucknell.

The Colts, usually a bit weak on the running game, appear to be overloaded at that spot this year.

Tom Matte, sidelined most of last season with a knee injury after gaining 909 yards in 1969, is back for his 11th season. Starting with him in the backfield will be Norm Bulaich, who led the Colts as a rookie last year with 426 yards.

Backing them will be rookie Don McCauley, the No. 1 draft choice from North Carolina who gained an NCAA record 1,720 yards in college, and veterans Jerry Hill, Tom Nowatzke and Jack Maitland.

The corps of wide receivers has been depleted with the retirement of Jimmy Orr and the trading of discontented Roy Jefferson, who caught 44 passes last year.

That leaves Eddie Hinton, who led the team with 47 receptions, and Ray Perkins as the only experienced wide receivers, but John Mackey and Tom Mitchell form a potent one-two punch at tight end.

"We hope to have a more balanced attack this year," says Coach Don McCafferty, and the stable of runners may make this possible. Last season, the Colts gained twice as much yardage in the air as on the ground.

The offensive line is back intact with Bill Curry at center, Glen Ressler and John Williams at guard and Bob Vogel and Dan Sullivan at tackle.

But the strength of the Colts again appears to be the defense, which allowed an average of 13 points over the final 12 contests of 1970.

Ends Bubba Smith and Roy Hilton anchor the front four, which lost tackle Billy Ray Smith through retirement and has tackles Jim Bailey and Fred Miller coming off knee operations. Billy Newsome and George Wright are capable reserves.

The linebacking crew of Ray May, Mike Curtis and Ted Hendricks is excellent, as are safeties Rick Volk and Jerry Logan.

Cornerbacks Jim Duncan and Charlie Stukes are young and still learning. Rookie Leonard Dunlap of North Texas State, another first round draft choice, has looked promising.

Duncan averaged 35.4 yards on kickoff returns a year ago and Ron Gardin averaged 11.8 yards returning punts—both Colt records.

Punter David Lee had a fine 44.7-yard average and place kicker Jim O'Brien, whose field goal defeated Dallas 16-13 in the Super Bowl, give the Colts an excellent kicking game.

If the Colts stay healthy at positions where they lack TRY, TRY, TRY again is Mrs. Sandra Nemser's policy. The 27-year-old Denver attorney, rejected in efforts to become an FBI agent, is taking her case to court.

Travelers Split With Tourists

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Relief pitcher Tim Plodinec struck out dangerous Vic Correll with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning Monday to give the Arkansas Travelers a 3-1 victory and a split of their doubleheader with the Asheville Tourists.

The Tourists won the first game 9-4.

Plodinec relieved Santiago Guzman with two men out after Guzman had given up his 12th hit of the night. Plodinec then fanned Correll who had slugged two homes runs against the Travelers in the current series.

The Travelers jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the second game and the Tourists, they should be in contention for another division title despite the tougher schedule.

Colts At A Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
1970 finish — Super Bowl champions, after winning the Eastern Division and the American Conference.

1970 record — 11-2-1 in regular season, then three more victories in postseason play.

Teams strong points — Tight defense which becomes attacking force with frequent turnover of opposition mistakes. Linebackers and safeties outstanding, with front four in same category if they stay healthy. Punting and special teams excel. Return of running back Tom Matte, out last season with knee injury.

Team weaknesses — Uncertainty at quarterback should Earl Morrall be injured while John Unitas recovers from operation for torn tendon. Wide receiver corps lacks experience. Behind starters offensive line could use more depth. Running game has possibilities, but 1970 statistics were unimpressive.

New faces: Running back Don McCauley and defensive back Leonard Dunlap, both first-round draft choices, should see lots of action; Ohio State quarterback Rex Kern will be reserve at safety.

Doing Fine After First Three Fights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Raymond Edler lost his first three professional fights: one after a punch on the nose, one after a knee to the face, and one after a combination knee and elbow.

In the first match, he was a TKO loser at the end of four rounds, with blood gushing from his injured nose.

In his second, his opponent latched onto Edler's neck, pulled his head forward and drove a knee into his face.

In the third, Edler found himself lying on the mat thinking he just didn't feel like getting up. "I'd taken enough of a beating," he recalled during an interview.

But Edler, a 28-year-old ex-Marine from Tri-Cities, Wash., stuck with his adopted sport of Oriental kick-boxing. He is now the top American in the game and a contender for the Japanese welterweight championship.

The sport's rules, which combine boxing with karate-like kicks, allow many more paths to victory than they prohibit.

Permitted are: kicks to the head, torso, legs; punches; elbow thrusts; and knee smashes to the body or face.

One of the few forbidden tactics is picking up your opponent and heaving him.

The most dangerous kick is one behind the ear, which can be fatal, Edler explains. Thailand, where kick boxing is the national sport, has recorded fatalities, but Japan, where it is increasingly popular, has not.

Ninety per cent of the bouts in Japan end in knockouts. Very few go the full five rounds and some end within seconds of the opening bell.

Edler, who owns a 20-7 record after 2½ years of fighting, has scored all his victories by knockouts. He fights at 160 pounds, which makes him a welterweight under Japanese rules.

To be effective, he said, a kick-boxer must be able to kick with either foot, throw a jab, cross and hook and work with his knees.

"If you can't use everything, then kick-boxing is just not effective," he said. "If you don't use your knees, you're losing 25 per cent of your offense."

ists never caught up. Bill Brooks singled and scored on Jorge Roque's triple. Roque came home on Wayne Dees' sacrifice fly. Mike McDonald's first home run of his professional career accounted for Arkansas' other run.

Asheville bombed four Arkansas pitchers in the first game. Joe Houck, Don Anderson and Correll all homered for the Tourists. Dees blasted a home run for the Travelers.

In other Dixie Association action, Amarillo blanked Dallas-Fort Worth 9-0, Columbus crushed Shreveport 12-0, Montgomery whipped Birmingham 3-1 and Memphis nipped Charlotte 2-1. Jacksonville at Savannah was postponed because of rain.

There's bad news, and there's good news, as the old Indian chief said. First the bad news.

The average American, to maintain an adequate standard of living during the so-called golden years, is going to have to increase his retirement savings.

The reason for that—and this is the good news: You're living substantially longer than your grandparents and your parents. You'll need more funds, to carry you through more retirement years, than past patterns of planning have called for.

We're talking here about funds that can be used to generate supplemental income. Few retirees find Social Security benefits plus company or union pensions are enough, today, to provide much more than a bare existence. For most, an additional fund in savings or investments is essential.

The American male now lives almost 19 years longer than his grandfather did. The life expectancy of women has increased even more—by 22½ years over the past six decades.

Latest data on expectation of life at birth, cited in the "1971 Life Insurance Fact Book," put the male life span at 67.0 years, that for women at 74.3 years.

At the turn of the century, life expectancies were 46.3 years and 48.3 years, respectively.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB 'Sun Screens' May Not Work

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you please give me any information about being allergic to the sun? About three years ago, whenever I would be out in the sun, I would break out in red welts and blotches and itch. Now it is getting much worse. My face, arms and back break out and my face puffs up. Is there anything I can take to prevent this?

Dear Reader—Some people call this "sun poisoning" and the exact mechanism is not known. It does behave like an allergy and the causative agent is the sun. In some people, the problem goes away spontaneously. It usually starts after a severe sunburn.

The best treatment is complete avoidance of exposure to the sun for several years. This is similar to other allergies, where it is advisable to stay away from the agent causing the allergy.

A person with this problem should cover up when he goes out in the sun—this means sleeves, a wide-brimmed hat and the works. Don't count on many of the so-called sun screens that are sold to protect you, since many of them are not effective sun screens at all. Of course, you should be seen by a doctor. There are some serious illnesses that are made worse by the sun and these require careful management.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column every morning and there is one item I have spade ace. Without that card, he would have responded with a maximum of one queen and two jacks and South was not that sore of bidder.

After this preliminary thought, East decided to play for a one-trick set with two clubs, two hearts and one diamond. This left a problem. How could he get his partner to return a heart when he got in with the ace of clubs?

East played back the nine of spades! Then, when he got in with the diamond queen and played the club to his partner's ace, West knew the suit to lead back.

never seen. Is cancer communicable? By this I mean if a person with this disease is dismissed from the hospital, with only a few weeks or months to live, could a child or a grown-up, by not being too careful in using the same utensils, be in any danger? He does want to live with them, rather than be alone.

Dear Reader—In the situation you describe, I think it is most unlikely that anyone will get cancer from the patient. We do not usually think of cancer as a contagious disease and you shouldn't add this problem to your worries. It is true that we do not know all the factors involved in cancer yet. Although there is no evidence of cancer being contagious in man, some obscure infectious process cannot be entirely excluded.

It is entirely possible that some of the forms of leukemia, or a factor in causing leukemia, are related to an infectious agent, like a virus. There is some evidence that breast cancer in women is related to an infectious agent. But we also know that sun and wind contribute to cancer of the skin. The incidence of cancer is much higher in the survivors of the atomic radiation at Hiroshima.

It is not necessarily bad if cancer and related diseases are induced in some way by some as-yet-unrecognized infectious agent. If so, it could provide a way to immunize people against cancer, which would be wonderful.

Let me repeat again, though, that we have no evidence of a people-to-people spread of cancer and I hope you will be able to put the concern you have for this matter out of your mind.

living longer"—only that a larger percentage now lives on into mature years. "Although man's maximum span of life remains at about 100 years," says the Institute of Life Insurance, in presenting the figures, "more people today are surviving to older ages than did their parents or grandparents."

What it means is that retirees — women, in particular — have to be prepared to finance more retirement years. The kind of inflation we have experienced in recent years has simply burglarized people of retirement age.

The income provided by Social Security and employee pension plans, which would have appeared adequate a dozen years ago, now barely covers necessities. Most economists, probably would agree that our economy is geared to continuing inflation for the foreseeable future — slacking off at times, no doubt, but over the years gnawing away steadily at the value of the dollar.

Your only defense against such erosion is to create, during the years of earning power, a fund that will generate additional income. And to stretch that income over more years, you need more capital.

If you set up your own withdrawal plan, for example, with your income-producing fund in a savings account paying 5 per cent compounded monthly, here are — rounded off—the amounts you'd need to provide $50 a month of supplemental income:

For 10 years	$4,715
" 12 "	5,405
" 14 "	6,030
" 16 "	6,600
" 18 "	7,110
" 20 "	7,575

That's merely illustrative of what it costs to live longer. There are, of course, a number of ways in which capital can be used to produce income—from the purchase of annuities to periodic liquidation of stocks or bonds.

Forrest City School Plan Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Oren Harris has approved the Forrest City School Board's desegregation plan for the 1971-72 school year.

Harris' order approving the plan was filed Monday at Little Rock. Under the plan, the junior and senior high schools will be completely unitized. Elementary school students who live inside the city limits will attend schools designated by an attendance zone plan and elementary students living in rural areas served by the school district will attend the schools nearest their homes.

The black plaintiffs had contended that the plan for the elementary schools left the schools racially identifiable.

Governor Welcomes the Freeze

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers says President Nixon's announcement of new economic policies "is the most welcome action to come from Washington for some time."

Bumpers, in Florida on a vacation, issued a statement through his office.

"All competent economists in the country ... have been saying for a very long time that these policies which the President set out (Sunday night) must be implemented if we are ever to bring inflation under control," Bumpers said.

"The President is asking all of the people in this country to voluntarily comply with his guidelines without the necessity of federal sanction and I would certainly encourage all Arkansians to help in this very worthwhile effort to bring under control runaway inflation," Bumpers said.

Charles T. Bernard of Earle, chairman of the state Republican party, called Nixon's move a "brave forward step."

"I guess it's a direction we had to take in order to stabilize our economy," he said. "I'm somewhat delighted with it."

Bernard said the real problem was that consumers had been saving more of their money instead of expanding their purchasing as national leaders wanted.

"I feel like that with this very big step forward, we will see consumers regain the confidence needed in the economy and begin buying again," Bernard said. "When they do, we'll see the economy expand rather aggressively, and as it expands we'll see unemployment go down."

Joe Purcell, chairman of the state Democratic party, said Nixon's proposals closely paralleled the suggestions of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Purcell said Mills was the country's "foremost authority on our economy and it is significant that the President is finally listening to him and following so much of Chairman Mills' counsel."

higher.

Q. Does the freeze apply to wages paid and services provided by state and local governments as well as private businesses?

A. Yes. Texas and some other states have approved pay increases for state government workers to take effect Sept. 1, but the presidential order calls for postponement of the increase until freeze ends.

Q. Can state universities raise tuitions to take effect when school starts in September? Can state public utility commissions grant rate increases?

A. The rates can be raised, but the increases cannot take effect until expiration of the freeze on Nov. 12, 1971.

Q. What about school teachers who have signed pay contracts to take effect with the opening of school in September?

A. The official answer, at this moment, is that the pay increase must be postponed. But a Treasury statement is reported in the works and may modify or clarify the government's position.

Q. Will Nixon's proposed repeal of the 7-per-cent excise tax bring a rollback in the price of new cars?

A. Yes, but only when Congress actually enacts the repeal legislation. Nixon said he will insist that the excise saving, averaging about $200 per car, he passed on to consumers.

Q. If a scheduled wage increase is deferred because of the freeze, can the workers get the increase retroactively when the freeze ends?

A. No ruling has been made. There is no language in the President's order or White House explanatory statements providing for retroactive payment.

Q. Oregon has a cigarette tax scheduled to take effect Sept. 9. This would raise the price of cigarettes. Is such a tax increase blocked by the freeze?

A. The presidential order does not mention tax increases, and some officials doubt that a federal order could legally interfere with a state tax action.

Q. What about the 1972 model auto prices, announced by most of the companies but not yet in effect?

A. Unless the increased prices were in effect on Aug. 14 they must wait until the freeze ends.

Q. What happens when the 90-day freeze expires?

A. Secretary Connally says: "I don't know." The followup procedure is to be worked out by the new cabinet-level Cost of Living Council. Nixon has directed its members to work with industry and labor leaders "to set up a proper mechanism for achieving continued price and wage stability."

Q. Does that mean some kind of wage-price guidelines, or a wage-price review board, or what?

A. Officials so far have not even given any hints.

AM&N Group Says Bumpers Failed Them

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The executive committee of the Student Government Association at Arkansas AM&N here says Gov. Dale Bumpers failed to carry out a promise to make emergency repairs on educational facilities and student housing at the predominantly black college.

The students said in a letter to Bumpers that the governor should give the matter his "immediate concern and consideration," adding that "we hope this will not prove to be an example of why black people cannot deal in good faith with white people."

The letter, dated Aug. 13, was made public Monday.

The students said they had met with the governor on several occasions to express concern about various problems.

The letter charged: "A public statement was made giving the impression that AM&N would receive immediately the funds for the emergency repairs, though three months later they had not been received."

"Certain legislative and departmental executives continually single out and harass AM&N while, at the same time, hindering its progress."

"AM&N officials are asked to travel almost constantly to the Capitol by certain of your departmental heads to deal with trifling matters which might indeed bring charges of 'excessive traveling' by certain members of the legislature."

"Just recently one of your department heads has decided to make it his job to determine what trips are vital to AM&N by forcing all AM&N administrators and faculty members to have their trips approved before traveling even though they operate on a travel budget."

The group said the appointment of the last two members of the board of trustees of AM&N was disappointing because the appointments had been made "without a nomination or even prior consultation of the committee comprised of faculty, alumni, students and representatives from your office that you previously recognized and urged us to work with."

The letter also said, "With the recent announcement that a portion of the $13.8 million in surplus state funds may be used to relieve the financial crisis at the University of Arkansas Medical Center, certainly the black community will ask the question 'What about AM&N college?' We have received inquiries from many parents and students concerning the progress of the repairs at the college, and now we must respond to them that, as of this date, no repairs have begun because no funds have been received."

The students said the "historical underfunding" of AM&N had resulted in what they called "deteriorating" physical facilities.

Bumpers was out of state Monday and a spokesman for his office there would be no comment on the letter until Bumpers returns next week.

Three Testify Medina Was Not Present

By KATHRYN JOHNSON

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Three opening witnesses in the court-martial of Ernest L. Medina have testified that the Army captain was not present at the time of the shooting during an infantry assault on the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai.

Testimony continues today, with more prosecution witnesses expected to take the stand.

Although prosecution witnesses Monday did not link Medina to the shooting, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey objected to their accounts of deaths at My Lai as not "legally relevant to Medina."

Col. Kenneth Howard, the military judge, responded that the testimony would be allowed to describe what happened at My Lai on March 16, 1968, but instructed the jury that the government would be obliged to show what Medina was doing "if and when these events took place in the village."

The three witnesses—Ronald L. Haebler, James Dursi and Gregory Olsen—all testified earlier in the court-martial that convicted a Medina subordinate, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., of murdering 22 civilians at My Lai.

The three said Medina was not present during the shootings, but told how troops of Charlie Company, which was under his command the day of the assault, shot unarmed old men, women and children in My Lai.
